MissingKids.ca is Canada's missing children resource centre. We offer families support in finding their missing child as well as provide educational materials to help prevent children from going missing. We partner with police and other stakeholders in the search for missing children.

Operated by the Canadian Centre for Child Protection [protectchildren.ca], MissingKids.ca offers:

- » A central place for families to register their missing child to request support from a trained caseworker in the search for their child
- » Educational materials to help prevent children from going missing
- » Innovative online and offline search tools
- » Access to a community response plan to help guide communities on how best to assist in the search for a missing child

- » The option to receive missing child alerts so individuals may become a part of the search for our missing children

Law enforcement agencies are critical partners in addressing and reducing the incidence of missing and sexually exploited children. Similar to our relationship with the Child Exploitation Units across Canada through the Cybertip.ca program, we encourage police officers to inform families with a missing child about the valuable services offered through the MissingKids.ca program.
